What party is that, and what political object have they in view, who have "locked up the specie and the notes" of the State Bank of Missouri! Who will answer that! There are some in this community, who, if they were a day's ride from the good upon the subject, would say that it is the Whitig party! that they have "locked up the specie and notes to make money scarce," in order that political capital night be made for the November election! A stranger coming into our country, and being unacquainted with the relation the two parties have borne to each other for the last twelve years; after hearing the ridiculous clamor which is now set up about wicked Whig measures and wicked Whig policy, would certainly come to the conclusion that the Whig party sure enough had had uninterrupted ascendency in the State and National councils; that they were the most numerous, powerful, and wicked faction on earth, and that these pure, unadulterated Democrats were pinks of political perfection, and could not number a sufficient force, in any part of the country, to make up a "corporal's guard !"-How superlatively erroneous would be the conclusions of this stranger.

And how unwilling soever they may be to admit it, these same infallible Democrats, for the last twelve years, have had the Presidents, Vice Presidents, both Houses of Congress, the State Legislatures, the Judiciary, the Army, the Navy, the Treasury, the Post Office, the Customs, the Land Office, the Mint, an irresislible and uncontrolable power-and yet, notwithstanding all this; after the country have witnessed these twelve years seigent the gates of Fort Experiment; after they have carried into operation all their measures, and after their legis-Intive and financial career has ended in a blaze of continual, incessant, and depressing num to every branch of our interests, they now have the base and brazen effrontery, to stand up in the face of this abused nation, and attempt to evade all responsibility, by trumpeting forth the senseless outery, "the Bunks have done it! the brokers have done it! the shavers have done it !!
